

Function App will map those 5 event payload to Activity Log payload.
IMPORTANT: Make sure to capture most of the information and for some info if we don't have 1-1 field then add it inside the metadata fields of activity log so goal should collect all the important info

Once mapping is done then don't call the internal function app again but use the backend logic of internal function app and do the same processing means whatever internal function app endpoint save activity log is doing do the same thing.

Why not calling Internal Function app Save Activity Log? → To improve performance and avoid extra hop and HTTP call
